AMHA Members:

The American Morgan Horse Association Youth (AMHAY) Horsemastership Program is designed to help you become competent horsemen. The five levels give you goals to work toward and recognition for learning about the Morgan horse.

You may work on the levels in your youth club or as an individual member, but all work must be completed with a Morgan horse. Level requirements do not need to be completed at the same time, but you must complete one level before progressing to the next.

The Leader's Manual serves as a text for the program and provides instruction and information. Contact AMHAY office for information about these manuals. A pre-Bulrush workbook called "Figure-It-Out" also is available through the AMHAY office for $1 postage and handling fee through the generosity of the American Morgan Horse Institute.

Tests for the first two levels are to be administered by local club leaders or a qualified person designated by the club. Tests for the top three levels must be administered by official horsemastership examiners. Official examiners are approved by the AMHAY Steering Committee and the AMHAY office. Write to AMHAY for a list of examiners. Examiners may not test members of their immediate families on the top three levels.

AMHAY will provide lapel pins, certificates, and awards to members who pass the Bulrush, Woodbury, Sherman, and Black Hawk Levels. A special award will be presented to members who complete the fifth level, Justin Morgan.

When members complete levels, the youth leader or examiner should send the report form (center page of this booklet) directly to the AMHAY Office, who will then forward a copy to the Regional Youth Steering Committee member for a signature. Pins and certificates will be sent to the youth leader for presentation to successful members.

Production of this edition was made possible by the generous support of the American Morgan Horse Institute.

THE MORGAN HORSE

Justin Morgan, the founding sire of the Morgan breed, was born in Springfield, Massachusetts, in 1789. This small, bay stallion soon became known throughout New England for his speed, strength, and beauty.

Justin Morgan's three famous sons, Sherman, Bulrush, and Woodbury, showed a striking resemblance to their sire. They soon established their own long lists of accomplishments. They could spend the entire day hauling logs or tilling fields and in the evening easily defeat their competitors in running and trotting races.

The descendants of these fine horses became known as a new of horse—the versatile Morgan horse.

Morgans and young people are a perfect combination. The Morgan's versatility and willingness to please make him a perfect family horse. He loves the companionship of young people and always tries his hardest at everything he does.

2. Put these Justin Morgan projects together in a detailed notebook. Each requirement should be a separate chapter and should have its own pictures. The notebook should be sent to your Regional Steering Committee Member and to a special Committee of Steering Committee Members for approval.
3. Upon completion of all Justin Morgan requirements, you must score 70% or above on a comprehensive test covering all topics in the five levels of the horsemastership program. Your youth leader or examiner should write to the AMHA office for a copy of the written test when you have completed the other requirements.

You can show riding/driving proficiency by performing the prescribed horsemasterhip patterns or by winning the Silver Medal in an AMHA Silver Medal class at a recognized Morgan show.

If there are one or two horsemastership areas that you do not opt to ride in, you may take a test for those areas. The written test will cover: USEF show rules, safety procedures, equipment, training methods, appointments, aids, etc. The examiner should contact the AMHA office for a copy of the tests.

Please note that it is mandatory for a registered Morgan horse to be used to complete the requirements in Justin Morgan Level Section A and Section C. It is not mandatory for a registered Morgan to be used to complete Section B or Section D. However, if two youths work on Section B together, each must submit a separate report.
