

Cassidy Moore

I am lucky enough to say that I have been riding and loving Morgans for my entire life. Being involved with this breed has shaped me, giving me countless life-changing opportunities and life lessons for which I could not be more grateful. This year will be my second consecutive year competing in the AMHA Youth of the Year Contest after several years of competing in the Jr. Invitational. This year I am showing my gelding, C-King Solar Flaire (Percy), in Hunter Equitation and Pleasure, Dressage, and Sport Horse in our first trip to MGN as a team. I am a junior at Issaquah High School where I'm involved with ASB and sing in an after-school audition treble choir. When I'm not doing homework or taking care of Percy and his two companion goats, I love to run, play piano, and bake. Morgans have taught me life lessons that I carry with me in every aspect of my life, allowing me to take on new challenges, be a better leader and person, and be grateful for all of it. Winning the Youth of the Year contest has always been one of my biggest dreams, and I would be beyond honored to represent this breed.
